

Membership

The North Carolina Fossil Club offers both individual and household memberships. Benefits of membership include:

- Opportunities to go on club sponsored field trips (with a signed liability release)
- Access to the members-only section of our website, including current and past issues of the JANUS newsletter
- Voting in club business matters

Field Trips

The NCFC goes on several trips each year to various locations from Maryland to South Carolina, and has gone on more far-ranging trips to Pennsylvania, New York, Florida, Ohio, Alabama, Arizona, Arkansas, Texas, Colorado, Utah, Kentucky, Indiana, and Illinois. Some trips are open to children as well.

To attend NC Fossil Club sponsored collecting events, you must be a current member with a signed liability release and abide by the club's Code of Conduct.

The North Carolina Fossil Club is a non-profit corporation founded in 1977 to engage in and support the collection, enjoyment, and study of fossils. We are based in Raleigh, NC and our wide-spread membership includes amateurs and professionals of all ages.

Learning

Anyone with an interest in fossils is welcome in the North Carolina Fossil Club, regardless of prior knowledge or experience level. Most members learn by watching others, studying members' finds, reading fossil books, or just asking questions! Eight books featuring NC fossils and written by NCFC members are available for purchase at most meetings and on our website.

Fossil fairs are another good place to learn. The NC Fossil Festival is held in Aurora, NC on Memorial Day Weekend and our club's Fossil Fair is held in the fall at various venues across the state.

Outreach Activities and Events

The North Carolina Fossil Club encourages its members to engage in educational outreach and helps to organize and facilitate programs at schools, museums, and public events. If you need volunteers for an event or would like to volunteer for an event yourself, please send an email to the NCFC outreach coordinator at outreach@ncfossilclub.org.

Meetings

The NCFC has general club meetings at 1:30 PM on the third Sunday of January, March, May, July, and September, usually held at the North Carolina Museum of Natural Sciences in Raleigh. Each meeting includes a guest speaker or other fossil-related program, a general business meeting, and a "show and tell" period. Guests are welcome!
